DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-9, 12, and 15-18, drawn to an electronic key system, which provides services with the use of an electronic key, classified in class 379, subclass 221.02.
 - II. Claim 11, drawn to an electronic key managing apparatus, classified in class 726, subclass 12.
 - III. Claim 10, drawn to a service providing device, classified in class 379, subclass 221.14.
 - IV. Claim 13, drawn to a door locking/unlocking system, classified in class 340, subclass 5.6.
 - V. Claim 14, drawn to a rental car service system, classified in class 235, subclass 384.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II or III, are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because is capable of allowing the provision of services without sharing services. The subcombination has separate utility such as a computer gateway (II), and cell phone provider (III).

3. Inventions I and IV or V is related as apparatus and product made. The inventions in this relationship are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the apparatus as claimed is not an obvious apparatus for making the product and the apparatus can be used for making a materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus (MPEP § 806.05(g)). In this case apparatus I can be used for providing services to mobile phones, which is different from a vehicle door lock or car rental service.

4. Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination II has separate utility such as a cell phone, subcombination III has a separate utility such as computer gateway, and subcombination (IV) has a separate utility such as a cell phone provider (IV). See MPEP § 806.05(d).

5. Inventions IV and V are directed to related products. The related inventions are distinct if the inventions as claimed do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants; and the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, invention V is used for locking/unlocking a vehicle door and invention VI is used for provision of a car rental.

6. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their different classification, the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), and their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. A telephone call was made to Mr. Daniel J. Stanger on 2/28/2006 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103 (a) of the other invention.
